

Study program: Integrated academic studies in dentistry
Type and level of the study program: integrated academic studies
Course title: Final (degree) paper (DV-FP)
Teacher: mentor
Course status: compulsory
ECTS Credits: 20
Condition: passed all exams
Course aim The aim of composing the final paper is that the future dentist : <ul style="list-style-type: none"> – uses the knowledge acquired from the course "Introduction to research work" and experience gained through previous studies. – applies the methodology of research work on specific problem. – demonstrates that he is capable to apply methods for statistical analysis of data and present them by graphs and tables – demonstrates the ability to find the necessary data by using the search engines designed for international and domestic biomedical database – demonstrates the ability to present results of research work in written and oral form.
Expected outcome of the course: Once the dentist has defended his final degree paper he is qualified for further research work, to publish it in scientific journals and to present his scientific observations and achievements. The graduate students is a competent educator of medical staff in their continuing education
Course description The application of final degree paper, its content, time, place and the process of defending it are regulated by special Regulations of final degree paper.
Literature
Number of active classes			Other:
Lectures:	Practice:	Other types of teaching:
Teaching methods Theory and practice
Student activity assessment (maximally 100 points)
Pre-exam activities	points	Final exam	points
Lectures		Written	40
Practices		Oral	60
Colloquium
Essay			